Greetings Content Marketers,

Welcome to B2B Enterprise Content Marketing: 2015 Benchmarks, Budgets, and Trends—North America. Here we look at how the content marketing practices of enterprise marketers (1,000+ employees) have changed since last year and how they compare with other B2B marketers.

Of all the groups of marketers we’ve studied over the last year, enterprise marketers:
- Use the most content marketing tactics
- Target the most audiences
- Are the most likely to be organized into a formal group
- Are the most likely to report to product marketing
- Have the most difficulty with tracking the ROI of their content marketing programs.

Enterprise marketers are producing less content than they did last year, but they’re allocating nearly as much budget for content marketing. Nearly 90% are focused on creating more engaging, higher-quality content over the next 12 months.

These are exciting times for content marketing. We’re thrilled to be with you on the journey.

Yours in content,

Joe
Does your organization use content marketing?

88% say yes

Last year, 96% of enterprise marketers said they use content marketing.

Back then, we defined content marketing as the “creation and distribution of educational and/or compelling content in multiple media formats to attract and/or retain customers.”

This year, we defined content marketing as “a strategic marketing approach focused on creating and distributing valuable, relevant, and consistent content to attract and retain a clearly defined audience—and, ultimately, to drive profitable customer action.”

The new definition—crafted by Content Marketing Institute in early 2014—better reflects how content marketing has grown from the mere “creation and distribution” of content to a formal business discipline.

Percentage of Enterprise Marketers Using Content Marketing

- 88% Yes
- 12% No

Overall, how effective is your organization at content marketing?

28% say they are effective

Note: For purposes of our annual survey, we define effectiveness as “accomplishing your overall objectives.” Those who rate their organizations a 4 or 5 (on a scale of 1 to 5, with 5 being “Very Effective” and 1 being “Not at all Effective”) are the “most effective” or “best-in-class.” The 1s and 2s are considered the “least effective,” while the 3s are neutral.

Last year, 32% of enterprise marketers said they were effective at content marketing. Even though there is a decrease this year, having a documented content marketing strategy helps in this regard (51% of enterprise marketers who have one say they are effective).
Does your organization have a content marketing strategy?

31% say they have a documented strategy

Enterprise marketers who have a documented content marketing strategy are more effective and less challenged with content marketing when compared with their peers who have a verbal-only strategy or no strategy at all.

Percentage of Enterprise Marketers Who Have a Content Marketing Strategy

- Yes, and it is documented: 31%
- Yes, but it is not documented: 42%
- No: 20%
- Unsure: 8%

How closely does your content marketing strategy guide your organization’s content marketing efforts?

33% say very closely

Effective marketers are more likely to follow their strategy very closely (56% of the most effective follow their strategy very closely).

Percentage of Enterprise Marketers Who Say Strategy Guides Efforts

- Very closely: 33%
- Somewhat: 59%
- We rarely use it: 5%
- Unsure: 3%

Does your organization have a dedicated content marketing group?

49% say yes

The numbers on this chart represent all enterprise marketers, but the most effective (82%) and those who have a documented content marketing strategy (81%) are more likely to have a group in place.

Percentage of Enterprise Marketers Who Have a Dedicated Content Marketing Group

- Yes, and it functions independently as its own unit: 13%
- Yes, and it works horizontally across the organization silos: 36%
- No, but planning to have one: 18%
- No, and no plans to have one that I know of: 32%

Which area in your organization is accountable for content marketing?

28% say product marketing

Enterprise marketers, when compared with marketers from all other sizes of organizations, are the most likely to report to product marketing.
How important are each of the following content marketing goals to your organization?

84% say brand awareness is an important goal

Note: Percentages shown represent marketers who rated each goal a 4 or 5 on a 5-point scale where 5 = “Very Important” and 1 = “Not at all Important.”

Once again this year, enterprise marketers say brand awareness is their top goal for content marketing (81% last year vs. 84% this year). Lead generation held fairly steady (74% last year vs. 78% this year).

The greatest increases were with engagement (65% last year vs. 80% this year) and sales (38% last year vs. 79%) this year.
Which metrics does your organization use to assess content marketing success?

58% say website traffic

Note: Fewer than 25% cited the following metrics: Subscriber Growth (24%), Benchmark Lift of Company Awareness (23%), Benchmark Lift of Product/Service Awareness (17%), Customer Renewal Rates (12%), and Cost Savings (9%).

As with last year, enterprise marketers say website traffic is their top metric (62% last year vs. 58% this year).

The use of sales as a metric increased from 32% last year to 43% this year. The percentage who use all of the remaining metrics decreased (except for higher conversion rates, which was new to the list).
How successful is your organization at tracking the ROI of its content marketing program?

15% say they are successful

Enterprise marketers are the most challenged group we’ve studied in terms of how successful they are at tracking ROI. Having a documented content marketing strategy can help; 29% of enterprise marketers who have one say they are successful in this area.

Compared with one year ago, how much content is your organization creating?

65% are creating more

Last year, 70% of enterprise marketers said they were creating more content.

Change in Amount of Content Creation Among Enterprise Marketers (Over Last 12 Months)

- Significantly More: 5%
- More: 23%
- Same Amount: 24%
- Less: 7%
- Unsure: 41%

How many different audiences does your organization target with separate content marketing strategies?

The average number is 6

Enterprise marketers target more audiences, on average, than any other size of organization.
Which content marketing tactics does your organization use?

93% use in-person events and videos

Note: Fewer than 55% said they use the following tactics: Mobile Apps (54%), Branded Content Tools (51%), Print Magazines (50%), Digital Magazines (40%), Books (36%), eBooks (36%), Podcasts (35%), Print Newsletters (33%), Virtual Conferences (33%), and Games/Gamification (18%).

When compared with last year, a higher percentage of enterprise marketers are using all of the tactics on this chart, except for articles on their website (86% last year vs. 84% this year), blogs (which stayed the same), and illustrations/photos (which is new on the list).

Once again this year, in-person events, videos, and social media content (other than blogs) are the most often cited tactics.
How effective are the following tactics that you use?

73% say in-person events are effective

Of all the tactics they use, these are the 12 that enterprise marketers say are most effective.

Like last year, in-person events tops the list, with an even greater percentage saying this year that they’re effective (69% last year vs. 73% this year).

Which social media platforms does your organization use to distribute content?

91% use LinkedIn

Note: Fewer than 30% said they use the following platforms: Pinterest (28%), Instagram (24%), Flickr (19%), Vimeo (19%), Vine (12%), Foursquare (10%), StumbleUpon (9%), Tumbler (9%), and SnapChat (7%).

Enterprise marketers use an average of 6 social media platforms (the same as last year). LinkedIn, Twitter, and YouTube were the most often cited last year as well.

The usage of all platforms shown here increased steadily over the last year, with the exception of Facebook, which stayed the same.
How effective are the social media platforms that you use?

61% say LinkedIn is effective

As they did last year, enterprise marketers say LinkedIn and YouTube are the most effective social media platforms. Their confidence rose the most in Twitter (46% last year vs. 55% this year).

Enterprise Marketers’ Effectiveness Ratings for Social Media Platforms

- LinkedIn: 61%
- YouTube: 57%
- Twitter: 55%
- SlideShare: 39%
- Facebook: 30%
- Google+: 18%

How often does your organization publish new content that supports its content marketing program?

44% say daily or multiple times per week

The most effective enterprise marketers (54%), as well as those who have a documented content marketing strategy (61%), are the most likely to publish new content daily or multiple times per week.
Which paid advertising methods do you use to promote/distribute content?

74% use traditional online banner ads

This was a new question on the survey.

Enterprise marketers use more paid advertising when compared with their B2B peers overall (an average of 4 vs. 3). In particular, they use far more traditional online banner ads (74% vs. 49%), SEM (73% vs. 58%), and print or other offline promotion (70% vs. 52%).
Enterprise Marketers’ Effectiveness Ratings for Paid Advertising Methods

- Search Engine Marketing (SEM): 53%
- Content Discovery Tools: 44%
- Promoted Posts (e.g., promoted Tweets): 42%
- Social Ads (e.g., LinkedIn ads): 36%
- Native Advertising: 35%
- Traditional Online Banner Ads: 28%
- Print or Other Offline Promotion: 26%

Search engine marketing (SEM) is considered to be the most effective.

Even though enterprise marketers use a great deal of traditional online banner advertising (74%) and print/other offline promotion (70%), they say that other forms of advertising are more effective.

Approximately what percentage of your organization’s total marketing budget (not including staff) is spent on content marketing?

The average is 23%

Last year, enterprise marketers spent an average of 25% of their budget on content marketing. B2B marketers overall spend an average of 28%.

---

How do you expect your organization’s content marketing budget to change over the next 12 months?

51% say they will increase spending

Last year, 55% of enterprise marketers said they would increase spending. 55% of B2B marketers overall plan to increase spending.
With regard to content marketing, how challenged are you with each of the following?

CHALLENGES & INITIATIVES

Which content marketing initiatives are you working on?

89% are focused on creating more engaging, higher-quality content over the next 12 months

New this year, we presented marketers with a list of 28 initiatives. We asked them to select one of three options for each: working on now, plan to begin working on within 12 months, and not a priority.

Enterprise marketers are working on an average of 13 initiatives, and plan to begin working on 8 more, on average, over the next 12 months.

The highest percentages of enterprise marketers are presently working on:
- Organizing content on website: 65%
- Better understanding of audience: 63%
- Creating more engaging/higher-quality content: 63%
- Creating visual content: 63%
- Finding more/better ways to repurpose content: 62%

As for which they plan to begin working on within 12 months, the highest percentages selected:
- Measuring content marketing ROI: 40%

DEMOGRAPHICS

B2B Enterprise Content Marketing: 2015 Benchmarks, Budgets, and Trends—North America was produced by Content Marketing Institute and sponsored by Marketo.

The fifth annual content marketing survey, from which the results of this report were generated, was mailed electronically to a sample of marketers using lists from Content Marketing Institute, MarketingProfs, Brightcove, Blackbaud, the Business Marketing Association (BMA), EnVeritas Group (EVG), The Association for Data-driven Marketing & Advertising (ADMA), the Direct Marketing Association UK (DMA), Industry Week, New Equipment Digest, WTWH Media, and Corporate Financial Group. A total of 5,167 recipients from around the globe—representing a full range of industries, functional areas, and company sizes—responded throughout July and August 2014.

This report presents the findings from the 395 respondents who said they were B2B enterprise marketers in North America.

Sections of this report compare the enterprise respondents with the overall sample of 1,820 B2B marketers from North America, whose responses were previously reported on in the Content Marketing Institute/MarketingProfs study, B2B Content Marketing: 2015 Benchmarks, Budgets, and Trends—North America.

Additional reports based on the annual survey are available at www.contentmarketinginstitute.com/research. Special thanks to MarketingProfs for their assistance with the annual survey and the B2B North America and B2C North America reports.
