Greetings Marketers,

It’s a pleasure to be reporting on the practices of UK content marketers for the sixth year. Content marketing has changed quite a bit since 2013, so our annual survey has evolved as well.

In 2018, UK marketers will need to ensure that they’ve set appropriate goals for content marketing (based on their organisation’s unique objectives)—and that they’ve aligned those goals with the right metrics. As you will see on page 30, 40% of those surveyed said they’re doing a fair or poor job in this area.

One of the most interesting observations was how big of a difference a slight increase in an organisation’s commitment to content marketing can make. When marketers move from the neutral position of being “somewhat” committed—to the stronger positions of “very” or “extremely” committed—there’s a good chance they’ll improve their overall content marketing success (see the chart on page 4).

Special thanks to our report sponsor, Tomorrow People, an award-winning UK B2B content agency that helps us disseminate these research findings. We hope you find the information valuable as you plan your content marketing activities for 2018 and beyond!

Yours in content,

Lisa

*Chart term definitions: The “most committed” respondents are those who describe their organisation’s commitment level to content marketing as extremely or very committed. The “somewhat committed” describe it as somewhat committed.

Base: UK content marketers.

The larger the organisation, the more likely it is to have a centralised content marketing group that works with multiple brands/product lines throughout the organisation.

39% of this year’s UK respondents said their organisations are in the sophisticated/mature phase of content marketing maturity; 26% are in the adolescent phase; and 34% are in the young/first steps phase.

More than half of respondents (53%) outsource at least one content marketing activity. Content creation is the activity they outsource most often (42%).
Does your organisation use content marketing?

Content marketing is defined as “a strategic marketing approach focused on creating and distributing valuable, relevant, and consistent content to attract and retain a clearly defined audience — and, ultimately, to drive profitable customer action.”

Base: All UK respondents.
How would you describe your organisation’s content marketing maturity level?

How UK Marketers Assess Their Organisation’s Content Marketing Maturity Level

- SOPHISTICATED (7%)
  - Providing accurate measurement to the business, scaling across the organisation

- MATURE (32%)
  - Finding success, yet challenged with integration across the organisation

- ADOLESCENT (26%)
  - Have developed a business case, seeing early success, becoming more sophisticated with measurement and scaling

- YOUNG (27%)
  - Growing pains, challenged with creating a cohesive strategy and a measurement plan

- FIRST STEPS (7%)
  - Doing some aspects of content, but have not yet begun to make content marketing a process

How is content marketing structured within your organisation?

UK Content Marketing Organisational Structure

- Centralised content marketing group that works with multiple brands/product lines throughout the organisation: 21%
- Each brand (product line/property) has its own content marketing team: 7%
- Both: A centralised group as well as individual teams throughout the organisation: 10%
- Small (or one-person) marketing/content marketing team serves the entire organisation: 57%
- Other: 5%

METHODOLOGY/DEMOGRAPHICS

UK Content Marketing 2018: Benchmarks, Budgets, and Trends was produced by Content Marketing Institute and sponsored by Tomorrow People.

The eighth annual content marketing survey, from which the results of this report were generated, was mailed electronically to a sample of marketers using lists from Content Marketing Institute, MarketingProfs, The Association for Data-driven Marketing & Advertising (ADMA), WTWH Media, and Technology for Marketing (TFM).

A total of 2,190 recipients from around the globe—representing a full range of industries, functional areas, and company sizes—responded to the survey during June and July 2017. This report presents the findings from the 117 respondents who indicated their organisation is for-profit in the UK (66% B2B; 9% B2C; and 25% both B2B+B2C).

Note: The UK content marketers referred to in the base lines and bullet points in this report are respondents who indicated their organisation uses content marketing.
